Local UIC claims down from last year

By Steve Fletcher
The number of residents filing claims for unemployment insurance has declined drastically since reaching a peak during the height of the oil bust.

"We're averaging 19 to 25 claims in a day, but these include those seeking regular, medical, maternity and retirement benefits," says employment officer Kitty Gaucher.

Gaucher and UIC assessor Annette Schwark make up the team from the Edmonton district office which provides "itinerant service" every second Tuesday to Drayton Valley.

Most of those seeking unemployment benefits were formerly involved in some capacity with the oil patch, said Gaucher.

Still, the present claim level is a far cry from this time last year, when the declining price of oil sent record-setting numbers to the UIC office.

"There was a significant increase in UIC activity during that time (March and April 1986)," district manager David Pylypow said.

He expects some further improvement in the claims numbers as a result of the federal government's $350-million oil aid package.

"I don't count on a return to the March/April '86 situation. The federal incentives have to help."

Pylypow's district runs from 127th Street in Edmonton west to Drayton Valley. It handles approximately 30,000 UIC claims per year.

Pylypow said the itinerant service provided to Drayton Valley, which was started a little over a year ago, is offering residents better service, but he added that he had "hoped to have better interaction with employers...due to the economic situation this has not occurred."

Gaucher agreed that contacting potential employers is of prime importance.

Currently, employment office employees are making "cold calls" to businesses in town, she said.

Gaucher added that the work-sharing program (where employees receive UIC benefits for the days not worked) is becoming increasingly popular.

"Rather than an employer being forced to lay-off everybody, he may consider this (program) as more advantageous."

Gaucher reminded those seeking UIC application forms to phone Zenith 2-2105. This speeds up the process as claims become effective on the day they are mailed out by Employment Canada.

Fatality

Fishing trip ends tragically

A long holiday weekend fishing trip turned into tragedy for two Drayton Valley men.

Mark Allan Orlesky, 23, and Scott Clinton Fuhrer, 21, left home last Friday morning in a camper for their first fishing trip of the season to Cow Lake, located 12 km southwest of Rocky Mountain House.

Orlesky drowned when the canoe he was riding in struck a piece of submerged ice, throwing him into the chilly waters.

Fuhrer, who was also thrown into the lake, was able to swim 400 metres through the icy water to shore. He was taken to hospital in Rocky Mountain House suffering from shock.

According to the RCMP at Rocky Mountain House, both men, after being thrown into the lake, started to swim for shore when Orlesky turned and went back for the canoe.

According to the RCMP, once Fuhrer reached shore, he walked about a half-mile to where a man was camping. Other campers called the RCMP.

Several canoes were on the lake last Friday. The RCMP report most of the ice was off the lake.

Orlesky's body was recovered by Rocky RCMP around 5 p.m., about a half-hour after the incident.

Funeral services will be held today (Tuesday) at 1 p.m. from the Drayton Valley United Church. The deceased is the son of George and Betty Orlesky of Drayton Valley.

Sunny!

The Edmonton weather office is calling for generally clear conditions and above normal temperatures for Drayton Valley this week.

Tuesday will be mostly sunny with highs between 18 C and 17 C and a low of -3 C.

Wednesday will be mostly sunny with a high reaching 13 C and a low of 0 C.

Thursday will be mostly sunny with highs between 11 and 18 C. A low of -2 C is also forecast.

Friday will be mostly sunny with a high of 11 C and a low of -2 C.

An Edmonton man drowned his Wednesday night on Lake Isle when his snowmobile went through the ice.

Evansburg RCMP report that Gary Dale Niles, 25, was out on the lake ice-fishing at the time of the accident.

"The ice was getting soft," said an RCMP spokesman.

Niles' body was recovered by professional divers from Edmonton.

Lake Isle is located at Stainford, south of Highway 16.

Town council is scheduled to meet with Drayton Valley High School Crippa tomorrow (Wednesday).

High on the list of items they will discuss will be the formation of a new municipal district.

The Fellowship school division plans to open eight classrooms at the Grand Trunk high school in Evansburg later this year.

Based on findings of a space utilization audit, the eight classrooms at Grand Trunk will be closed to school use for possible use as office space effective September.

Four portable classrooms at Niles (Crippa) school will be disposed of on the same date.

Town council is expected to ratify a new permit increase for its union at a meeting on Thursday.

The new track and fields at Frank Maddock High are off limits.

Principal Alan Day says the facilities won't be ready until September.

The public's cooperation in staying out of the banned area would be appreciated.

Jamie Plata, the Drayton Valley youngster battling cancer, received a special birthday present last Wednesday when Edmore's Oliver Wayne Gratsky visited him at the Royal Alexandra Hospital.

He may be transferred to Drayton Valley hospital this week. He is semi-conscious and in serious but stable condition.

Jamie has fought cancer since he was 18 months old and has faced about 70 operations. He recently returned from Mexico where he underwent experimental treatments for tumors on his brain and spinal cord.

Fair supply, demand

Real estate stable despite troubled times

By Carolyn Vesely
In spite of the unpredictable economy, people are buying houses and land in the Drayton Valley area.

Local realtors report a stable real estate market based on a fair supply and fair demand.

"It amazes me how Drayton Valley seems immune to downturns," said Rod Schultz of Phillips Realty. "In spite of the economy, it's a good market. And with the mill here, there are a lot of people employed in service."

Schultz said homes in the $80,000 to $90,000 price range (three-bedroom, developed basement) are selling quickly.

Even faster-moving are mobile homes, a "bridge" for renters, which sold as soon as they were listed, he said.

He also mentioned interest in properties in the southwest corner of town, the site of the new arena and community centre.

Tom Johnson of Johnson Realty & Insurance also reported a high demand for mid-range homes and said he could see the possibility of a shortage of houses in that price range.

Lorne Pinkoski of Century 21 reported comparisons show the market is consistent with the first three months of 1986.

While the numbers are similar, the difference is that the average sale is six per cent higher.

"People are buying higher-priced houses. The $100,000-plus range has done better than last year and there's a greater demand for new housing," he said, adding the reason is likely due to stable interest rates.

Pinkoski explained that it will take time to determine whether minor fluctuations in the total real estate picture will form a trend.

"We're also susceptible to the oil industry," he said.

Recent low prices have a lot of people looking to buy raw land, said Bonnie Hunter from Farmers & Ranchers Real Estate.

She said she has had a lot of clients who relocated their farms from southern Alberta since prices are slightly lower here.

There are also a lot of acreages on the market, she said, listing $105,000 as the average price on a parcel under 20 acres.

The results of a monthly study, done April 6, showed 33 houses and mobile homes listed, said Darcie Thompson of NRS Nichols Realty Services, who added that about 20 more could be added since that date.

"I'd say it's a fair market and they're good prices, but it's up and down," she said.

A lot of older homes are on the market now and there are the new development areas like Aspenview, Thompson said.

"Spring is always the most marketable time, especially for rural property.

Easyford Hall receives $106,000

Work is expected to start by the end of the month on the new Easyford Community Association Hall.

President Jack Barnard reports they have received a $106,527 cheque from Alberta Disaster Services to cover last July's flood losses. Their original request was for $108,865.

Barnard said he was "quite surprised" to receive the $106,527.

The community association is still waiting for word on a request they made to the County of Parkland for some community, recreation and cultural (CRC) money.

Ed Haykowski, west end coordinator for the county's recreation department, says all the decisions have been made. But it will be early May before any announcement is made, as county council has to give their seal of approval.

Barnard says his group is waiting until the grounds at their new site dry. Then, construction will get underway.

The Easyford Loggers Festival is scheduled for June 20.

OIL NOTES

The ERCC office at Whitecourt will close this summer.

Three inspectors will remain at Whitecourt, working out of their vehicles. Two others will be transferred. And, the two part-time secretaries will be laid off. Their offices in the provincial building will be closed.

Mobil Oil will add another 35 employees to their 90 already working in Whitecourt as it makes the town its northern centre of operations.

Inverness Petroleum Ltd. and Silverton Resources Ltd., both of Calgary, have announced the transfer, effective March 5, of the oil and gas assets of Silverton Resources Ltd. to Inverness Petroleum Ltd., its controlled subsidiary. The assets transferred include all of Silverton's oil and gas properties, undeveloped acreage and the shares of SRL Exploration Pty. Ltd., its Australian subsidiary.

The purchase price was $26.4 million. Inverness Petroleum issued 2,540,000 Class A convertible, retractable, redeemable preferred shares in exchange for assets. These preferred shares were immediately retracted for cash, resulting in a discharge of Silverton's bank indebtedness of $21,000,000 and a loan from Silverton to Inverness of $3,000,000.

As a result of the acquisition, Inverness Petroleum Ltd. has bank indebtedness of $18 million.

AEC Oil and Gas Company, a division of Alberta Energy Company Ltd., has announced an agreement with San Diego-based Solar Turbines Incorporated for the long-term sale of natural gas for use in Solar owned and operated cogeneration plants.

Cogeneration is the simultaneous production of electricity and steam or heat from a common fuel source such as natural gas. In a recent study, the Energy Information Administration predicted a 50 per cent increase in the use of natural gas for electrical generation in the United States by the year 2000.

While 1986 was described as a shake-out year for the oil industry, Alberta Energy Company Ltd. shareholders were told AEC completed the year in a stronger financial condition and with production records in virtually all of its operations.

Speaking at the corporation's 12th annual general meeting, AEC president, David E. Mitchell, said preliminary estimates indicate 1987 first quarter cash flow will exceed that recorded in the comparable quarter of 1986, with net earnings for the period being significantly higher than a year ago.

The corporation announced plans for a convertible debenture issue for which it has filed a preliminary prospectus with regulatory authorities. The interest rate, conversion terms and maturity date of the debentures will be set at the date of issue.

Chairman's Shield

Hi West gets award for safety record

Jim Wedman holds Chairman's Shield.

By Steve Fletcher

Hi West Well Servicing Ltd. has won the Chairman's Shield award for having the most improved safety record in the province.

Hi West, with divisions in Drayton Valley, Rocky Mountain and Lloydminster, took the prize at the Canadian Association of Drilling Contractors annual dinner held recently in Edmonton.

Jim Wedman of the company's Drayton Valley division says the award was based on the "noticeable improvement" in Hi West's safety record since it initiated a special program last year.

The program included the publishing of an accident prevention manual that all employees were required to follow.

Wedman said it is quite rare for the smaller companies to implement their own safety manuals.

The program was developed following Hi West's concern for the on-going injuries and dangers in working in the oilfield, he added.

The company's 19 rigs showed the most improved accident rate in Alberta in 1986 to earn the award, which has been handed out every year since 1977.

Wedman accepted the award at the dinner along with representatives from Hi West's other two divisions (Lynn Drasler from Rocky Mountain and Graham Halmadal from Lloydminster.)

Town says no biting bug bucks this year

Drayton Valley has decided not far apply for a mosquito control grant this year.

Town engineer Manjeet Saran said mosquitoes are "not a problem" in town and so it has not applied for a grant under the province's Biting Fly Control Financial Assistance Program.

The program costs more money than it's worth, Saran added.

Alberta Environment has allotted a total of $630,000 in grants for 1986 mosquito control.

Environment Minister Ken Kowalski announced that $952,259 has been allocated throughout the province for this year's program.

The Biting Fly Financial

Assistance Program is a cost-sharing program initiated in 1974. It assists municipalities that follow department guidelines for controlling mosquitoes.

Arena, curling rink or community centre

What is all the money earmarked for?

Fund raising is picking up steam for the proposed arena/complex.

But before this fund raising goes any further, there are a couple of important questions that need answers.

First of all, is the money going toward an arena/outdoor ice and curling rink? And, where does a community centre fit in?

And, do all the businesses, organizations and individuals who are contributing money, really understand where their money is going?

It was pointed out at a recent recreation board meeting the arena/outdoor ice was Phase I. The curling rink is Phase II. Period.

Councillor Dave Lundberg said, "Council has not come up with any financing beyond an arena."

With that statement, one has to question where a community centre fits into the plans.

So far, the Community Centre Society, who are by far the most aggressive group in regards to fund raising, have said very little about a community centre. They seem pleased with the idea of a new arena.

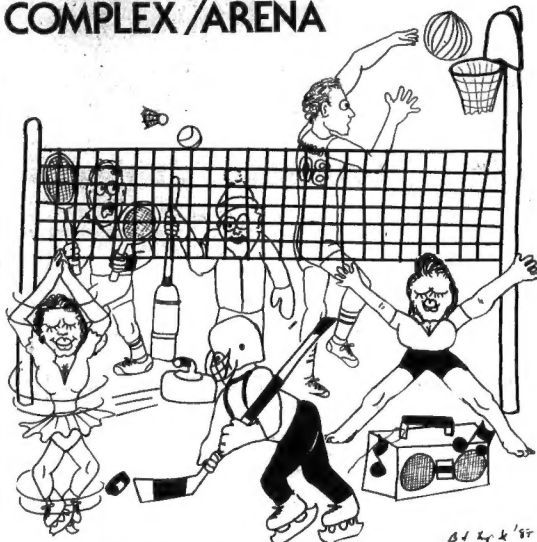

We may need an arena, but a community centre would meet more of the local needs.

Before too much money is raised, it would be nice to hear from town council on what they would do if, for instance, $1.5 million was raised.

Town council has said all along, they had the final decision on the project. And for that reason, it's important now for them to clearly define what they will do if the money is forthcoming.

When that happens, then the fund raisers can set a goal and the project, whether it's an arena/outdoor ice, curling rink or community centre, can get underway.

COMPLEX / ARENA

West Valley Park

User fees being considered for 1988...

The recreation board has taken a 'bold' step in suggesting user fees be introduced next year for facilities at West Valley Park. As a taxpayer, I endorse their move.

Some changes to the town's policy of adults paying 100 per cent of the cost and youths 50 per cent needs to be revamped in light of the increasing deficit recreation is costing us. Latest figures show an $86,000 deficit at the pool; $74,000 for parks and $60,000 at the arena.

If the 'user fee' at West Valley went into effect next year, rough estimates indicate that minor ball would need an extra $6,400 and soccer $4,000.

Frankly Speaking

by Frank Ryan

None of the teams who use the many school fields would be affected. However, because the town cuts the grass on those fields, some type of user fee should be considered.

Preliminary talks on the subject of 'user fees' also indicates that hockey could be in for an increase. A survey of 11 communities, seven with one rink similar to Drayton Valley, showed the local rate was $4 below average.

Tennis courts is another area being considered for a user fee.

The recreation board appears to be split on the issue of user fees. Maybe they should forward it on to council, and let the elected officials decide.

If you're looking for something to do on a Saturday...check out the classifieds for the garage sales. They're very popular at this time of the year.

Writer blasts local businesses for lack of good work

Dear Editor,

In the past few weeks I have learned a lesson that I would rather ignore, as it concerns a business of Drayton Valley.

Having been a resident in the Drayton Valley area for the past 11 years, I feel a sense of pride in the town itself and the business therein. However, my pride has been wounded.

Ignoring suggestions to take my car to Edmonton to have it serviced, I decided to support local business and subsequently I had my car serviced by a distinguished business in Drayton Valley.

Apparently, this was a mistake as my car was improperly fixed and our local merchant did not stand behind his service. Upon presenting him with my problem, he shrugged it off calling it a "mistake that happens sometimes."

The bottom line being that he had his money and I was no longer important to him.

I would prefer to support local business to that of Edmonton or elsewhere (even if it costs a few extra dollars), but it's not worth my while to pay for unsatisfactory work that is costly to correct.

As for next time, I'll not hesitate — my business will go elsewhere.

Kelly Stephenson

Writer is thankful

Dear Editor,

To the good samaritans on Rge. Road 502:

On March 30 at 10:15 p.m. I became immobily stuck in the mud on a dark, lonely road.

My only recourse was to pray for help because, on my own, I could do nothing.

In answer, a car came along, cautiously driving past and going some distance before reconsidering and returning to assist me. Three kind ladies did what they could but were unable to dislodge me. One lady offered to send her husband to help. I learned that he had to be gotten out of bed but he came with a tractor and pulled me out.

I never did learn their names and they wouldn't accept any payment for their help. They know who they are and I want them to know how grateful I am to them and to my God for sending them in answer to my prayer.

Gratefully yours,

ID 8 to become a municipal district...

Neil Crawford, minister of municipal affairs and Greg Stevens, MLA for Banff-Cochrane, have announced the first steps have been initiated to prepare the Improvement District of Bighorn No. 8 for incorporation as a municipal district, effective Jan. 1, 1968.

The announcement also ensures continuation of the role of the existing advisory council until incorporation is finalized and regular elections take place.

Improvement district advisory council members are currently elected for three-year terms in accordance with the Local Authorities Election Act and are then officially appointed by the minister.

The advisory council's decision to pursue incorporation came after feasibility studies and numerous public meetings affirmed the Improvement District had achieved sufficient financial and service levels to successfully seek incorporation, and that this course of action was supported locally.

An improvement district is generally defined as an unincorporated rural municipality which does not have the financial resources, population base and administrative capabilities to manage its own affairs.

Choosing a salesperson

(NC) Once you decide to sell your home, your first question should be: who do I choose as a salesperson and a company to list my house? Some people select a personal friend who is in the real estate business. But decisions based only on friendship, can lead to disaster! If you have a medical or legal problem, do you pick a friend who is in the business, or do you find out who is the best available? Smart people check the facts. You should do the same with real estate. After all, your house is probably your largest single investment.

If you hire a salesperson on a professional rather than a personal basis then you can demand performance! If you are dissatisfied with how your house is being marketed, you can complain and take appropriate action. But what do you do if you list with a friend or relative? Do you risk your friendship?

In selecting a salesperson, deal with someone who is already successful in your neighborhood. That person already knows the market and can give you the type of advice you are seeking. In asking for your listing, any salesperson should be prepared to offer you a competitive market analysis. This analysis is simply a statement of current market activity in your neighborhood. It compares your house to other comparable properties that are on the market. Once the salesperson has demonstrated his market knowledge, he should be prepared to make commitments on holding open houses for the public, and agent tours or open houses for other agents. But the salesperson is only half of the team! While his personal commitment can generate substantial potential buyers on a local basis he also needs the resources of the company behind him. In my next column, let's discuss what resources a brokerage company can offer you when selling your home.

Pep talk

Child's misbehaviour can be predicted — consultant

By Carolyn Vesely

We can predict, almost with scientific accuracy, when our children are likely to misbehave, an Edmonton public school consultant told about 45 Drayton Valley parents at a parenting pep talk last Tuesday.

"There aren't any solutions, only alternatives and methods to help maintain your sanity," said Peter Smilanich, who specializes in discipline.

"Not all kids misbehave in the same way, but patterns do develop," he said, adding the parent is the one getting trained the most.

Children are most likely to misbehave when they're expected to behave, he explained.

"They act in reverse to expectation because they get attention and power over other members of the family." Smilanich told the group that nothing is more powerful to children than controlling their parents' behavior through their own misbehaviour.

He used the routine of a typical morning to illustrate the situation.

For example, a child who must be called to get up five or six times every morning doesn't have to change his behaviour because he has 'trained' the parent to keep calling him until he gets up.

In the case of sibling squabbles, the end result is predictable, he said. The parent gets involved, gets angry and one or more children retreat to their rooms in tears.

"When you hear yourself saying, 'How many times do I have to tell you?' or 'I've told you a hundred times,' you know you're locked into that pattern of misbehavior already," Smilanich said.

"We have to start responding from an intellectual, not emotional level."

He said through the use of natural and logical consequences, a movement is made away from rewards and punishment.

"If your kids have to make a choice, the consequences will teach them a lesson," he said.

For example, a child who refuses to eat supper will face the natural consequence that he'll be hungry in the evening.

Instead of bribery or threats, Smilanich said giving the child a choice of either eating now or in the morning, puts the responsibility of eating on him, not the parent.

Point out the possible consequence only once, he added.

The hardest thing is to keep your mouth shut and not say, "I told you you'd be hungry," he said.

"Withdraw from the behaviour, not the child, and let the natural consequence teach the lesson."

Red Cross fundraiser a success

The annual Red Cross fund-raising drive was successful once again this year.

The local branch raised $8,177 during March, up about $300 from the year before.

"Every year has been better than the previous year," said Peggy Tyler, president of the Drayton Valley Red Cross.

The fund-raising drive has been a yearly event in the area for the last 10-15 years.

Tyler was grateful for the time volunteered by the 80 canvassers and was also grateful to those who gave money.

It was very encouraging to see how "unselfish people were" "especially in these depressed times."

Ambulance budget shortfall

Town manager Manny Deol is still looking into ways to cover an ambulance budget shortfall.

Town council was informed in mid-February that ambulance services would cost them $29,740. That was $9,810 more than was in the budget.

At the time, Councillor Dave Lundberg told council he had talked to the town manager about the difference and said the money could be found.

Now, Deol says the shortfall could come from a budget that is under, from anticipated revenue that is over budget, or as a last resort, it will come from reserves.

2,300 properties

Assessors begin town appraisals

Thousands of confused and angry taxpayers jammed telephone lines in Edmonton recently, trying to find out why their property assessments had gone up.

That isn't expected to happen in Drayton Valley, where 10 assessors from municipal affairs are carrying out a similar task.

The assessors have just started calling on the 2,300 properties in Drayton Valley. The job is expected to take five months.

In Alberta, assessment of property is used as a method of seeing that each property owner pays a fair level of tax in relation to what his or her neighbors pay.

This method is used across Canada and throughout North America.

and grew naturally from a society which was rural land agricultural in its early stages. At first, only land was assessed and taxed. As towns and cities have grown though, the system has changed. Today, both land and improvements to the land — including buildings, structures and any machinery or equipment affixed to the land — are assessed and taxed.

You probably notice very little change in your property assessment from year to year during annual assessments. Only if you've made a change or an improvement to your property, will your assessment change.

General assessments, though, are conducted periodically to bring assessments up to date with current market values, and to account for changing economic conditions.

The last assessment in Drayton Valley was done in 1981 using '80 land values.

If anyone has a question about the assessment being carried out, they are asked to call Kevin Birwert at 542-2892 on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, between 9:30 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. A very informative brochure is also available.

"We're not here to collect taxes for the town," assessor Vic Manoharen told The Western Review. "The assessment is pretty fair most of the time."

Elementary B

Lunch-time improved

A new concession booth at Elementary B school could be used to fill students' stomachs with hot lunches in the fall.

The booth, part of the large-scale renovations taking place at the school this year, is currently being used as a teaching room for the hearing impaired — it's one of the few really quiet places available because of the construction.

Principal Elson Keown said the potential for hot lunches will depend on what parent volunteers can come up with.

"A lot of it depends on what they feel comfortable with."

Traditionally, the school has provided a hot soup program during the winter months.

Milk and juice sales are presently taking place as a test for its possible use in the fall.

All proceeds from the sales are directed toward the purchasing of awards, certificates and medallions for the end-of-year ceremonies.

At roughly $500 per year, the awards can "run up a fast bill," Keown said.

The 19th Hole

Many plain courses just need a map to find them.

The layout has been changed, retaining the original design. The 18 holes remain the same, while number one becomes 10, two becomes 11, three becomes two, and so on.

Gord Drayton is back as the pro and is joined by newcomer Todd Croden.

At Barrhead, the club is spending $5,500 on more land for their traps. An 18-hole working area has also been added at a cost of $3,000, and the course is expected to open during the last week of April.

Fairways West is located on Highway 20 near Alder Plain opened last week.

Bob Wennerstrom has added a new pro shop to the 18-hole course.

Wennerstrom reports a lot of interest from golfers in Drayton Valley, Rock Lake and Alder Plain.

Fees are also up this year with the men's membership jumping to $180 followed by $140 for women and $110 for juniors. Green fees for nine holes will be $9 and for 18 holes, the cost is $12.

If you want to book a tee-off time at Fairways West phone 288-9060.

The Pembina Valley course near Evansburg opened last Wednesday.

To confirm a tee-off time, phone 727-2797.

Pembina Valley is one of a few courses with an artificial grass.

The Drayton Valley golf course also opened last Wednesday, and Blacksmith reports a few golfers were on the course despite strong winds.

The Pimbridge course, located at Saba Beach, was well closed as of last Friday.

The Canadian Football League will host its annual Silver Bullet golf classic May 11 at the Derrick Golf & Winter Club. It will feature players and coaches from around the CFL.

Proceeds from the tournament will go toward the Special Olympics. The event raised $5,000 last year.

This is the scene, looking down the fairway from the green, on one of the new holes.

Hundreds of bags of fertilizer are being kept underwrap until June when seeding starts on the new holes.

Seven new holes

Expanded golf course may open next fall

By Frank Ryan
The 18-hole Drayton Valley golf course is expected to be ready by August of next year.

A standing-room only crowd at last Monday's first golf meeting of the new season heard a switch to seven new holes plus the current five and six would be made in August of this year. That will give the developers a full year to complete the expansion.

With news of the expansion out of the way, the golfers gave their unanimous approval to a fee increase that will see the family rate jump by $80 to $440. Both men and women will pay $215. For the women that is a hike of $45 while the men will pay an additional $30. The junior fees stay at $80 and university students will continue to pay $120. Senior citizens will pay 50 per cent.

The weekday green fees will be $9 for nine holes and $13 for 18 holes. The weekend fees will be $11 and $16. That's an increase of $1 in each category.

A motion to limit the men's league from two nights per week to one, was defeated. The meeting heard that 200 men make up that league and many consider it the backbone of the membership. The issue was raised at the general meeting because of a number of complaints from casual golfers, who said they experienced trouble getting on the course.

Vi Helm was elected secretary and Mike Stasiuk is the new treasurer. Ron Nikiforuk, who had been the treasurer for five years, was thanked for his contribution.

Membership fees last year totalled $83,428 compared to $64,546. Green fees were also up from $39,612 in '86 to $47,286. Revenue from the driving range showed $881 profit.

Boxing club seeking residence

The Derrick Boxing Club is looking for a permanent facility.

Lawrence and Ray Duperron took their problem to a recent recreation board meeting, where they asked to be included in any plans for a sports complex.

At the present time the 40-member boxing club trains in the Fitness For Life building, with the Royal Canadian Legion providing funding to pay their rent.

The recreation board heard the boxing club needs a facility where a ring can easily be set up and quickly dismantled.

The Duperrons noted that one gym could be utilized for kick boxing, judo and the boxing club.

Scoreboard

Recreation offices close

Six regional recreation offices will be closed this summer as a result of government cutbacks. The offices are located at Barrhead, Medicine Hat, Wainwright, High Level, Vegreville and Edmonton.

Fun run planned for May

The five-kilometre (3.1 mile) Barrhead 'fun run' will be held on Saturday, May 23 beginning at 10 a.m. at the arena. Entry forms are available at the recreation office. The registration fee is $3 for individuals and $6 per family.

Speedway planned

A major motor speedway is planned just outside the Red Deer city limits on Highway 11. The Alberta Sports Group, made up of motorcycle and stock car racers, want to build a $30 to $50 million sports park on a triangular piece of land. The Red Deer County has given their unanimous approval to the project.

Anglers invited east

The Stony Plain Eagles, Western Canada intermediate A hockey champs leave tomorrow (Wednesday) for Newcastle, New Brunswick.

The Gagnon packers deposited $17,000 in the Eagles' bank account last Thursday, to cover their airfare for a Canadian AA championship series.

However, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is not sanctioning the series as the official national final. The best-of-five series starts Friday.

McQuig wins

Drayton Valley's Randy McQuig scored a unanimous decision over Brent Marchand of Fort McMurray last Saturday at the Alberta Diamond Belt amateur boxing card in Edmonton.

This weekend McQuig, joined by Ron Olsen, Carl Schmidt and Shawn Harden from the Derrick Boxing Club will be in Edmonton for the provincials. Two bouts are scheduled for Saturday, in the afternoon and evening and again Sunday afternoon at the Friendship Centre on Jasper Avenue and 117th Street.

Bantams Flyers protest their league final

The Drayton Valley Parkland Flyers bantams entered the final and deciding game of their Wild Rose B division championship game against the Leduc Blues recently.

The game was fast-paced and well played throughout and after three periods, ended in a 5-5 tie.

Adrian Againes and Shaun St. Louis scored twice with Chris Hutchinson adding a single for Parkland.

Leduc was first on the scoreboard in the 10-minute, overtime session but St. Louis counted his third goal to keep the game tied. With seven seconds remaining in overtime, and a face-off in the Flyers' end of the rink, Leduc managed to put the puck past Len Adler in the Drayton net.

The timekeeper had failed to start the clock during the final seven seconds, therefore the Wild Rose Commission had to decide on the outcome of the game. It was decided to allow the goal to stand and a very disappointed Parkland team had to settle for runner-up medals.

A protest was filed with the Parkland team coaches and manager. As a result, after hearing testimony from all parties involved, the committee ruled in Parkland's favor and disallowed the final Leduc tally.

As yet, no final decision as to how the game will be resolved has been handed down. Because of the committee findings, the game ended in a deadlock.

On April 4 and 5 the Parkland Flyers competed in a tournament hosted by the Mill Woods Wolverines in Edmonton.

Parkland dropped their first game 5-2. Scoring for the Flyers were Hoppe and Againes. Todd Dumke had two assists in the final effort.

In their next game for the B division final on Sunday and walked away with the trophy with a 10-7 win over the Cardston Flyers. Hill and Againes each had two goals with singles coming off the sticks of Troy Baker, Britt Gunn, Saar, Woods and Stringer.

Soccer coaching clinic

Do you know everything there is to know about coaching soccer?

If you don't, but would like to know more, a five-hour Pre-level 1 coaches clinic, sponsored by the Alberta Soccer Association will be held in town this Saturday. The clinic, to be held at the H.W. Pickup school, starting at 1 p.m., will include 2 1/2 hours of classroom time and 2 1/2 hours on the field.

The clinic is especially important to beginner coaches. It would also be a good way for the more experienced coaches to get ready for the upcoming season.

Soccer organizer Simon Kelly reports that 185 kids have registered for the minor program this summer. That's already a half-dozen more than participated in the outdoor program a year ago.

Add to that total six men's recreation teams. There are indications four more teams will sign up for this league.

Unfortunately, only 25 girls signed up. And, because of their various ages, the idea of a girls' five-a-side league has been scrapped. Instead the girls will be placed on boys' teams.

If anyone has any questions about the weekend coaches clinic or soccer in general, call Simon Kelly at 782-2700 (work) or 542-7146 (home).

Wabamun site of sailing

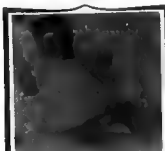

Wabamun Lake will be hosting a major national sailing event this summer.

The Wabamun Sailing Club has been chosen by the Canadian Yachting Association and the Alberta Sailing Association to host Sail West, a national championship series involving 200 boats.

Taking place from July 4 to 11, the series will include the Fireball National Championships, Enterprise National Championships, Sea Spray North American Championships, Laser and Laser II Western Canadian Championships, Laser Masters National Championships and a major sailboard and keelboat competition.

Parkland County council authorized Wabamun Sailing Club to use the road west of the club for parking provided the club informs residents about the event.

About 500 people are anticipated to attend the competition, a letter from the sailing club to county council said.

Nine goals in 1987

The recreation board has set nine goals they hope to achieve this year.

Heading their list is the development of two parks (Park Place and Elementary B) with playground structures.

Second on their list is support of a complex.

Other priorities include the support of leadership programs and to be included in a feasibility study on a new arena.

Gas prices may lead cars to more propane conversion

By Carolyn Vesely
With another budget-induced price increase impending, motorists may soon consider converting their vehicles from gasoline to propane. Under the recent provincial budget, gasoline is slated for a five cents-per litre increase effective June 1, (to about 44 cents per litre from the current 38.5).

There has been an increase in inquiries into propane conversion in the Drayton Valley area, according to local dealers, but it's still at the curiosity level.

"We're getting more inquiries now than six months ago," said Darwin Patterson, owner and operator of George's Propane.

"It's been more estimates than actual jobs, probably because of the cost of the changeover."

Alan Roberts, mechanic at Drayton Valley ICG, said ever since the provincial budget was released, he's been "doing estimates right and left."

"I've already done five this week," he said.

Roberts listed the advantages of propane as a longer life for the vehicle's motor and cleaner burning with cleaner oil.

However, he added that he doesn't advise it for some people who are already getting high mileage.

"You have to be putting on the miles for it to be worth it," he said.

Gene Hruska, manager of the propane division at Mohawk, said he has definitely noticed more people checking into conversions. He added the station is also promoting it by offering free litres of propane with a conversion.

While propane normally sells for about half the price of gasoline, it works on a completely different fuel system.

So, while fuel bills will be less in the long run, converting a vehicle from gasoline to propane involves an initial cost of $1,200 to $1,500.

Patterson explained that propane, a liquid which burns as a gas in a vehicle's engine, carries 85 pounds of pressure at 100 per cent. Gasoline, however, is carried in a thin, "atmospheric" tank which holds no pressure.

Besides the economical advantage, especially for high mileage drivers, he said propane reduces the need for engine maintenance and is safer because the equipment — tanks and lines are heavier.

"We've had one (tank) fall off of a large truck and the driver ran over it and it didn't leak," Patterson said.

"If you get hit from behind, there isn't the danger of an explosion like there was with the Ford Pinto."

However, if a tank is punctured, the propane will leak out, unlike a gas tank which can only leak if punctured in the bottom.

"It happens rarely, but propane turns to vapor at atmospheric pressure," said

Patterson.

He added that the equipment used in propane-powered vehicles was proven safe and recommended by Canada Transport. Police cars, school buses and taxis are all high users of them.

The propane option is available on almost any model of vehicle, said Darren McCoy, salesman at Woodland Chrysler.

"We've only had one person order one from the factory, and that was a van for Loomis," he said.

While most beneficial for heavy duty and commercial vehicles, Patterson said there are thousands of sizes of propane tanks to fit nearly every size of car.

"People don't understand," he said. "If they better understood the safety and benefits of propane, there'd be more people using it."

Propane is currently about half the price of gasoline.

Report cards were given out Thursday, April 16.

Seventeen Grade 9 students and one Grade 8 student participated in the Canadian Math Competition, with seven of the students placing in the top 25 per cent of the students in Canada. The three highest marks in the school were Darryl Nottor with the top mark, Chris Thompson, the Grade 8 student placing second, and David Kilborn placing third. Congratulations!

A sock hop will be taking place on the 24th at the school for students.

The Grade 8 choir and band are travelling to a two-day festival April 22 and 23 held in Stony Plain.

The canteen will be closing at the end of the month, so buy your goodies now and beat the end of the month rush.

Badminton has begun at the school as an intermural activity and is proceeding very well.

St. Anthony's A badminton club has been set up at the school and is working well.

The school is still taking kindergarten registrations. They can be delivered to the office.

A presentation by the Canada Games group will be given to the students April 27.

The first week in May has been considered a pitch-in campaign. The students will be cleaning the school grounds and surrounding area that week, and they will be doing this for the group Outdoors Unlittered.

Three groups from Tomahawk school are going to the County Choral Celebration in Stony Plain April 22 and 23.

The school badminton teams will be travelling to conferences April 25 and May 2. Good luck to all participants.

Lindale Lindale recently honored those students who had average marks in the core subjects of 80 per cent and no marks below 65 (honors). They also honored those who had marks of 65 per cent and over, but no marks below 50 per cent (distinction).

In Grade 1, honors went to Marcel Martin, Stacy Olson, Justin Shipston, Tina VanEmber. Distinction was awarded to Bill Badgerow, Sharmon Fisher, Thomas McCarthy, and David Waters.

For Grade 2, Cynthia Springer received honors, and Judy Fortin, Dana Martin, Jamie Rose, Brian Smith, and Cory Townsend received distinction.

Carolya Lychak received honors in Grade 3, with Gail Floden getting distinction.

Grade 4 saw Dean Holmgren and Cory Flamaud receiving honors and distinction respectively.

No honors were received in grades 5 and 6, but distinction went to Robin Adair, Cora Appleby, Cathy Elvst, Troy Davidson, Rita Fisher, Erin Holmgren, and Bryan Martin.

Grade 7 saw Denise Greenwood, Glenn Holmgren,

Jodi Larsen, Emily Springer, and Doug Tryon receiving honors. Distinction was presented to Annette Bogart, Allen McKenzie, and Evan Gavigan.

Honors in Grade 8 were given to Pam Cropley and Melanie Reznik, and distinction was given to Arna Bryant, Dan Cropley, and Clinton Tweedle.

Grade 9 honors were presented to Ross Dalke and Tracy Martin, distinction being given to Kristeena Scobie and Jean Tryon.

Congratulations, all of you!

Elementary B The results from the CTBS testing for the Grade 6 students have been completed, with the school scoring a grade equivalent of 6.83. This is 1.3 months above the national average for all of Canada.

Fear of speaking to crowds one of the top phobias

By Carolyn Vesely

When it comes to phobias, speaking in front of a crowd (fear of the "ors" and "ahs") definitely rates in the top five.

But, there is help for those who turn to stone at the thought of public speaking.

An International Training in Communication (ITC) club is being formed in Drayton Valley to help men and women gain self-confidence and develop communication skills.

Local coordinator Chris Kreiser said the April 9 information meeting attracted 12 people, women only. A minimum of 16 is needed for the club to become chartered, but it could operate with only 12, she said.

Also present at the meeting were ITC members from clubs in Spruce Grove, Edmonton and St. Albert who related how they had personally benefited from joining.

"It was really positive," said Kreiser.

ITC, one of the largest non-profit educational organizations in the world, was incorporated in California in 1968.

Its objective is to teach participants to express themselves and their ideas effectively.

The motto is "You Learn by Doing" and clubs are kept small, about 30 people, so all may participate fully.

Each club elects an executive and sets its own fees.

"ITC is designed to enable individuals to develop at their own speed," Kreiser said, "and each person receives his own manual to follow."

The course will initially be taught by a Spruce Grove member and then be run by the group itself.

A typical meeting begins with an opening reading or inspirational quotation. Then there is a business portion to provide practical training in running a meeting.

The remaining time is spent on activities such as formal speeches, debates and workshops.

Each speaker's performance is evaluated by designated members of the group.

"The best thing is that it takes place in a friendly, supportive atmosphere," said Kreiser.

"You're learning, but it's among friends. And you learn from good constructive criticism."

Meetings will be held twice monthly and duration of membership is up to the individual, Kreiser explained.

"If all you want is to be able to stand up and speak intelligently at the kindergarten meeting, you might stay in a year," she said. "But if you want to get into politics, that's another story. You could become a lifetime member."

The next meeting of the Drayton Valley ITC Club will be held tonight (Tuesday), 7:30 p.m. in the Frank Maddock school.

Meeting was a success

The recent multi-media information night was a success.

Forty people attended, many indicating an interest in meeting a support group in Drayton Valley and area.

Shirley McFall, Alberta director of client services, gave an excellent presentation which included a lot of practical information about the chronic disease. The enthusiastic presentation extended the meeting 90 minutes over the scheduled time.

Nominations needed for citizen awards

Young people who do more than their share — we all know a few.

Reward one. Nominate that youngster, or group of youngsters, between the ages of six and 18, as a 1987 Junior Citizen of the Year.

Nominees from throughout the province receive a certificate of nomination and as many as 10 young people or groups will receive Junior Citizen awards. They are chosen for the initiative, hard work and concern for others they demonstrate in their families, schools and communities.

Co-sponsored by Alberta's investor-owned electric utilities, TransAlta Utilities and Alberta Power Limited, the program has been recognizing exceptional youngsters since 1961, and is one of Alberta's most prestigious youth awards programs.

The nominations are judged by weekly newspaper editors and youth group supporters, and the winners are recognized in weekly newspapers throughout Alberta.

Individual recipients with their parents, and group representatives and their leader, will be invited to Calgary to receive the Junior Citizen of the Year citation and a cash award.

Heleen Hunley, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, will make the presentations at a special awards ceremony held during the annual convention of the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association in September.

To nominate a youngster you feel deserves a Junior Citizen award, please contact this newspaper, or your local Alberta Power or TransAlta Utilities office.

Grass fires major concern

The warmer weather has brought with it the fire department's traditional concern for grass fires.

Drayton Valley fire chief Sheldon Fusco says a lack of caution during spring cleaning is the major culprit.

"It's either too windy, or there is not sufficient manpower or equipment" used when cleaning up yards, Fusco said.

"Some years it's a fantastic amount of grass fires;

last year it wasn't too bad at all."

So far this spring, firefighters have been out extinguishing two grass fires in the area, both occurring in February.

Fusco said this type of fire can happen all year around, but the most dangerous time is right now, when the grass is dead and easier to burn.

Occasionally, grass fires are ignited by natural causes, such as by broken powerlines.

Dr. John Hunter treats patient Sue Ackeral

'Chiropractic is a truth'

Patients will suffer from cuts?

By Steve Fletcher

An Alberta government proposal to eliminate chiropractic treatment from health care will hurt the patients but not the profession, says a local chiropractor.

"Chiropractic is a truth," Dr. John Hunter said.

"It's not going to die and go away. The thing is chiropractic flourished before government funding was created because people nowadays are demanding correction of the cause of the malady instead of the mere treatment of their symptoms."

The government is considering either a reduction or an elimination of chiropractic care from its health care plan as part of its overall scheme to reduce the province's deficit.

But Hunter suggested the government may also be yielding to a determined lobby from the Alberta Medical Association.

Hospitals Minister Marvin Moore may be simply "a pawn to a bigger authority," said Hunter.

He believes the government's proposal will not save taxpayers any money, but instead will end up costing more.

Chiropractic care often cures a patient's ailment at less cost than the medical profession, Hunter asserted. As a result, chiropractic's elimination from health care will lead some to undertake more expensive treatments covered by medicare.

If the government goes through with the proposal, it may have "small effect on patient flow...but I doubt it will affect me personally," Hunter said. "If people can find $21 for a carton of cigarettes, $10 for a Lotto ticket, even $50 to get the poodle clipped, people who benefit from chiropractic care will find the money."

Patients of Hunter's also share concerns about the government's plans.

"I don't think it's fair," said long-time patient Myrna Boscher. "One complements the other (chiropractic care and the medical profession).

She believed the loss of health care would mean many patients may opt for more expensive forms of treatment covered by the government.

"We've received thousands of complaints...a lot of patients are concerned with it," said Michelle Solomon, Hunter's assistant. Currently, the health care plan subsidizes a routine visit to the chiropractor by 80 per cent.

"We've been discriminated against for years because we've been given only partial coverage," Hunter said.

Volunteer firefighters handle all types of calls — from vehicles to trailers.

Lots of experience in department

Town/county fire calls almost equal

By Frank Ryan

The Drayton Valley volunteer fire department handled almost as many calls in town last year as they did in the county.

Fire Chief Sheldon Fuson's annual report shows his department handled 47 alarms in town compared to 46 in the county. This compares with 42 in Drayton Valley in '85 to 44 in the county.

However, alarms during the past two years are down over the '84 statistics when the fire fighters answered 60 calls in town and 46 in the county.

The department also answered 93 calls that were considered not a fire or a non life-threatening emergency situation. This included 47 in town and 46 in the county.

Vehicle fires accounted for 18 calls including 11 in the county.

And 22 false alarms were received with 18 of them happening in town.

Fifty-eight per cent of the alarms were received between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. During the past year the department received 17 calls between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m.

The busiest day of the week in '86 was Friday and their quietest day was Tuesday. The busiest day for town calls was Sundays with Thursday and Saturday being the busiest in the county.

Fuson's report also shows the fire fighters spent more time on fires in the county, as opposed to in town.

Fires in town accounted for a loss of $102,702 in town and $1,261,500 in the county.

The department's rescue truck was also busy last year. They answered 10 rescue calls. Of these, nine were for motor vehicle accidents and the other involved a two-year-old child whose finger was caught in a hole of a metal bi-fold door which was successfully extracted.

Eight of the nine motor vehicle accidents were in the county. In two incidents, equipment was used to extract deceased victims.

The Drayton Valley Volunteer Fire department has a lot of experience.

Deputy Chief Cliff Lathe has 15 years experience followed by assistant chief Ken Dusterhoft with 14 years. Captains Thor Shykora has been with the department 10 years and Robert Stein has nine years service. Lieutenant Dave Dusterhoft has been a volunteer fire fighter for 10 years and Brian Fuglerud has logged six years.

Fire fighters Spencer Ross and Ivan Geddes have seven years each followed by Dan Bartlett and Lenard Jones with six years each. Carl Wahlstrom has been with the department for five years, Robert Wilcox (4), Gary Millar (2), Farid Ramtulla and Ian Dunn (1), Warren Schiek, Rick Chorley, Jim Bain and Rob Dykes (less than one year).

Mary's officially opened

County to share CARE campaign

Parkland County has decided to share in the safety campaign for Yellowhead Highway.

A request from the committee promoting the CARE (care and responsibility everyday) Highway campaign saw councillors okay a county purchase of $100-worth of CARE bumper stickers for county vehicles as well as a $50 donation to the cause.

The CARE campaign was launched to reduce traffic fatalities and counter bad publicity about the route sometimes referred to as Death Highway.

The CARE committee is composed of municipal representatives and RCMP from communities lining the Edmonton to Jasper route.

"Cute kids" contest

The final date to have your entries in to the Drayton Valley Lionsess Club's cute kid photo contest is April 27.

The photos will be on display at the Derrick Mall May 2.

Judging is based on cute or funny kid situations. The judges for the contest are Jenny Harris, Olga Brown and cash prizes will be awarded. The amount of the prize depends on the number of entries received.

The rules of the contest are as follows:

1. The child must be between six months and 16 years when the photo was taken and may have been taken between 1900 and 1987.
2. The photo must depict a cute or funny situation.
3. $1 entry fee for each photograph submitted.
4. All entries must be submitted with an entry form.
5. Contest is not open to Lion or Lionsess members of Drayton Valley.

Mail your entries to L. Luchyk, 5225-46 Ave.

Drayton Valley, TOE OMO. If you wish to have your photos returned, please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. Your photo will be handled with great care.

Proceeds from the contest will go toward the Lions' Journey for Sight. Fifty per cent of these proceeds go to the Canadian Diabetes Association (Alberta branch); 25 per cent is returned to the Drayton Valley Lionsess club for sight-related projects. The remaining 25 per cent goes to the Lions Club International Fund (LCIF), which is an emergency fund for disasters world wide.

Don't delay. The deadline is fast approaching. Send in those cute photographs today and come and see the display May 2 in the Derrick Mall.

Entry forms are available at The Western Review and Radio Shark

Get the most out of the barbecue season

Now that summer cookouts are just around the corner, the Canadian Gas Association (CGA) offers the following suggestions to get the most out of the barbecue.

The CGA estimates it costs less than $10 to operate a typical natural gas or propane barbecue for the summer. This is based on 20 hours of use, and is less than half of the estimated comparable cost of charcoal type grills.

With a natural gas or propane barbecue you get fast, even heat with no mess or fuss, and with proper maintenance, a durable gas barbecue will outlast most charcoal grills for many years of cookout fun.

At the start of each season, clean the barbecue with hot, soapy water or oven cleaner. If the burner requires cleaning, remove it and use a brush to clean a cast iron burner or a cloth and soapy water for a stainless steel burner. A thin wire can be used to open any clogged burner ports. Make sure the burner without referring to your owner's manual for instructions or to a qualified service person if necessary.

it back. Don't tamper with the air shutter at the base of the burner is seated properly at the gas valves when you put "new" setting, while using the high temperature setting for Follow manufacturer's instructions when lighting marinate will help soften less tender meat or poultry fibres by natural enzyme action. Oil-based sauces added just before cooking will seal in meat juices. Grills should be applied only during the last 10 minutes of cooking to avoid burning. Gas barbecues have lava briquets which should be spaced in a single layer. Several times during the season, turn the briquets so that residues can burn off during cooking. Avoid grease or dried-on food build-up by removing the cooking grids and washing with soap and hot water periodically.

Fluorescent lights are ideal

TIPS

Plants require 14 to 18 hours of light per day but during the shorter and duller days of winter they may not be getting it.

The result is poor plant growth and an ideal way to remedy the situation is artificial fluorescent light stands. They provide a consistent light source that plants respond to as well or better than the brightest window.

Fluorescent light units come attractively finished in 24 or 28 inch lengths. They can be used individually or tiered in two or three layers to maximize space and growing area. Either warm white, cool white or special plant growth fluorescent tubes can be chosen to provide the best artificial light to grow all your plants or seedlings.

An automatic timer is an ideal and easy way to ensure your plants get the necessary hours of light. The top of the plant leaves should be two or four inches from the bottom of the tubes. Use boxes, if necessary, to raise the plants to the desired height. An added benefit to light stands is that they can be placed near a heat source thereby allowing you to control the temperature. For seedling growth the temperature should be between 13-18 C (55-65 F). For display gardens and most seed germination, 18-24 C (65-75 F) is best.

Meeting held to discuss arena/complex proposals

George Bergquist wanted an explanation.

Bergquist, chairman of the Community Centre Society met with the recreation board last Wednesday to discuss the arena/complex proposal.

The recreation board received a package containing all the society's minutes, bank statements, etc.

The board heard that the Community Centre Society has $99,900 in the bank and commitments from a number of other groups.

However, Bergquist wanted to clear up rumors around town of what was actually being planned. He said people don't know what is actually planned. Bergquist said 'talk on the street' was that after an arena was built, the project would stop.

Recreation board chairman Jack Hutchinson said an arena with outdoor ice makes up phase one and a curling rink was phase two.

Councillor Dave Lundberg, who also sits on the recreation board stated council has not come up with any financing beyond an arena. He added that if it was financially feasible, they would consider it. "Further financial support is not there at this moment," he added.

The meeting was also informed the town has received some cost estimates, but they don't have the actual drawings or a model of the proposed arena/complex.

Sales tax credit for low income families

If you weren't planning to file an income tax return this year because you had no taxable income to declare — think again.

You may be missing out on a valuable tax credit, worth as much as $50 for you, and even more if you're married or have children.

This credit, introduced in the February 1986 budget, is designed to provide a federal sales tax refund to individuals and families with low net incomes.

In order to receive the credit, you must file a tax return for 1986, even if you don't have taxable income to declare. Schedule 11 must also be completed and submitted along with your tax return.

In order to determine if you are eligible to receive the federal sales tax credit, complete a tax return up to line 224 — net income. If you are married, your spouse's net income should also be calculated. Then turn to schedule 11 in the tax return and complete it, following the instructions in the tax guide. Once you've completed this schedule, go back to the tax return, complete it, and sign it.

Generally speaking, individuals are eligible for the full $50 credit if their net income in 1986 was $15,000 or less.

The credit gradually diminishes as a person's net income increases above $15,000. When an individual claims the federal sales tax credit for a spouse and qualified relations, the amount of the credit increases, since a $50 credit may be claimed for spouse, and additional credits of $25 per qualified relation are also available.

As you complete your tax return, remember that a qualified relation is a child under 18 years of age as of December 1986, for whom you or your spouse are the only individuals claiming a personal exemption. Only one claim for the federal sales tax credit may be made by a married couple, so you must decide which spouse will claim this credit.

If you're unsure of how to claim, call or visit your district taxation office where the staff will be pleased to assist you. In Edmonton, you may call 420-3510 between 8:15 a.m. and 6 p.m. to make an enquiry. District taxation office hours throughout the year are 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mayors denies it

Recreation board shocked over disbanding statement

The recreation board was thrown into a "state of shock" last Wednesday. The board was informed council was talking about disbanding the board.

However, Mayor Bob

Mayhew says council has no intention of disbanding the recreation board. "That's an incorrect statement," he remarked.

The mayor did admit though, that council is taking a good long look at the recreation bylaws.

Personally he added, "They fill an important role in the community. They do a lot of work behind the scenes."

The future of the recreation board came up during a discussion on council's delay in appointing another person from the community-at-large to the board. Councillor Dave Lundberg, who also sits on the recreation board stated the appointment was pending on what council had planned for the board. He added that talk of disbanding the board, "Came right out of the blue. It was a bit of a shock to me."

Rural Dignity of Canada group

Small town post office is community focal point

The Alberta Urban Municipalities Association has expressed alarm about indications the Canada Post Corporation intends to close down many of its small rural post offices.

"The post office in a small town or village has traditionally served as a community focal point," says AUMA president Dick Fowler. "It is a vital factor not only in the social fabric of the community, but from a business and economic development standpoint as well."

Business enterprises, the president says, will not be inclined to serve areas which even the post office considers uneconomical.

The AUMA will continue to maintain close liaison with Canada Post to ensure the concerns of association members in small communities are not overlooked.

Canada Post officials in Ottawa earlier this year, in response to inquiries from the AUMA, admitted it is indeed the corporation's intention to replace selected small post offices with group mail boxes and Supermailboxes, and to farm out many of its services to the private sector, although the corporation claims it will strive to maintain "community identity and ... delivery services on site."

Corporation president Donal Lander has assured Parliament rural enclosures would be executed only after a minimum of 30 days' notice and after local consultation with local residents.

An organization called

Rural Dignity of Canada, formed in mid-December last year, says the corporation is not in fact consulting with the people at all, but is turning rural citizens into "second-class citizens" with "all the inconsiderate and arrogant attitude that is well known from Canada Post executive leaders."

Rural Dignity of Canada is particularly active in communities like Devon, where the local post office is targeted to be phased out. The AUMA has offered its assistance to the town of Devon and other municipalities in a similar situation in combating the closure move on the part of Canada Post.

"Canada Post is not any longer classed only as a mail delivery service but also a local business in our communities," says the editor of the community newspaper, the Devon Dispatch, and goes on to urge individuals and organizations in the community to lobby their member of parliament in opposing this negative move by Canada Post.

Two mills

Balanced budget — '87 taxes increase

By Philip Melnychuk
Parkland County taxpayers will be facing a two-mill increase on their 1987 tax notices.

The new budget approved by county council will see an extra mill each added to the supplementary school requisition and municipal mill rate with the new 1987 rates now set at 9.50 for schools and 9.08 for residential property.

Total mills on residential property works out to be 18.71. The total is the sum of the school requisition, (9.50) and the municipal levy (9.08) and a special levy of 13 mills for senior citizen's homes in the county.

That compares to a mill rate of 16.71 from last year — about a 12 per cent increase.

The overall effect according to municipal secretary Delmar Kulak, is that taxpayers can expect to pay $112 more in taxes for an average home and garage on a three acre parcel.

Farm rate up two
In 1987, farmers can expect to pay another $45 per quarter section with their 1987 combined mill rate of 20.13.

That figure represents the combined mill totals for the school levy (9.50), plus the seniors' homes levy (13), plus the general municipal levy of 10.50. Farm revenues are expected to total $1,796,083.

A mill is one one-thousandth of a dollar.

Adding another mill to a total county tax assessment that exceeds a billion dollars is expected to bring in $5,219,728 as the county's share of the supplementary school requisition for Parkland school board while a residential (aplit) mill rate of 9.08 is expected to add $2,078,688 to general revenues.

Commercial and industrial property will be taxed at 24.83 mills — the sum of the special school foundation program levy (14.70), the school supplementary requisition (9.50) and the general municipal levy (10.50) and the seniors' residence levy (13). That's up from last year's mill rate of 22.67.

The balanced budget calls for total operating revenue of $36,357,083 with operating expenditures coming to the same figure.

Balanced budget
Despite provincial spending cuts of three per cent on major programs such as the Municipal Assistance Grant (down to $774,752 for 1987 from $797,425 in 1986) and the capital road grant of $70,000 compared to $772,102 in 1986, the county will get $282,000 for its secondary highways compared to $43,847 in 1986. However, the majority of that went to completing the county's portion of improvements to Golden Spike Road, south of Spruce Grove.

Recreation dollars down
In fact, the total budget for road construction has increased to $2,776,400 — up from $2,307,032 in 1986.

The 1987 budget will also see the county recreation department reduce its budget to a projected $390,720 for 1987 compared to $490,287 for 1986.

Part of the decrease can be attributed to Community year.

Recreation Cultural (CRC) grant funding from the province. Last year, the county received $190,110 compared to $185,000 expected this year.

Regular exercise, fewer calories for weight control

While fat is always the villain in the weight control picture, some body fat is Fat helps protect internal organs, insulates from the cold, and serves as a source of energy.

But too much fat is not good. It makes you feel sluggish, increases your chance of injury, and increases your risk of health concerns such as high blood pressure or diabetes.

Weight gain is usually a slow process brought on, in part, by a gradual reduction in the body's metabolism (the rate at which calories are burned to maintain bodily functions) with advancing age.

As the metabolic rate slows, the body's daily energy requirements decrease. To

The Active Life for Seniors control your weight as you get older, it is necessary to reduce your food intake or gradually increase activity or, preferably, both.

If the battle of the bulge is on your mind, physical activity can help you wage the Moderate exercise depresses the appetite, so exercising in the few hours before eating can help you cut down at meal time. Crucial to success, however, is avoiding the 10 p.m. fridge raid to make up for what you missed at dinner.

Regular activity also seems to "reset" the metabolism at a higher level, thus helping to counter its natural decrease as we get older.

Little things add up, so look for all sorts of ways to be active during the day. Bowling, curling, and other leisure activities can play their part.

So can gardening, yardwork, and house cleaning. Walk to the store, or to the next bus stop on the way to town. Climb stairs instead of taking the elevator whenever you get the chance.

To get the most of your time and effort, pursue vigorous activities such as walking, running, cycling, or swimming — activities you can do at your own pace for a reasonable period of time.

Don't underestimate walking for weight control. It's a simple, pleasurable activity, accessible to everyone, and a little goes a long way. With no change in diet, a 30-minute walk four times a week means five-and-one-half kilograms of weight lost (or not gained!) in one year.

Matrimony is the only game of chance the clergy favor.

About 90 curlers and 60 guests enjoyed the dinner prepared by Dot Gilbert and the ladies' morning curlers.

The Ralph Goertz team was first in the round-robin. Second went to the Bill Malka foursome while third went to the Herb Zander rink. "Skunk" award went to the Marlain Davidson team.

Two Siwash sweaters, made and donated by Shirley Myck were raffled off. Audrey Hansen was the lucky winner.

If anyone is interested in organizing or coaching ball, come forward and get involved. If there are no volunteers, there may not be any ball this year.

Reduced demand, more competition for industry

Beef prices should remain fairly good through the 1980s but reduced demand and increased competition from other meat products will present a challenge to the industry, says a United States consultant.

While low feed grain prices will fuel the interest in beef production, reduced consumer demand for beef may keep the lid on prices, says Bruce Ginn, a Kansas-based agricultural consultant.

"Over the longer term, prices in the entire cattle and beef complex will rise," Ginn told a recent Edmonton conference. "However, the price increase will be limited by reduced demand."

He said within the industry itself there will be strong demand for replacement cattle because of plenty of cheap feed, but the industry is also seeing a bigger share of the market being taken by pork and poultry.

Ginn told 200 producers and market specialists attending the Accent '87 - Taking Stock conference that total U.S. meat production in 1987 is expected to rise by three per cent.

"Undoubtedly, the largest increase in total meat supplies are expected to prevail in the summer and fall quarters of this year," he said. "At that time, increase in pork and poultry output will be substantial. This means increased competition for beef industry as 1987 progresses and will make the prevailing supply of beef more difficult to move."

The consultant predicted that increased hog production will result in plentiful lower-priced pork supplies. At the same time large broiler supplies are also forcing chicken prices down.

The two "spell substantive competition for the beef business," he said.

Fund-raising Elk-a-thon on April 24

Members of the local Elks and Royal Purple Lodges again have the opportunity to raise funds for children in need.

The fourth annual Elk-a-thon, a 10-km walk held at various centres across the province during the weekend of April 24, is again raising money for the Elks Purple Cross Fund.

Ira Haight, Exalted Ruler of the Drayton Valley Elks Branch 291, says he is not certain about how many local members will participate in the fund raiser as it relies mostly on individual effort to obtain pledges.

However, several members did enter last year's Elk-a-thon, he added.

The Elks Purple Cross Fund provides assistance to children in need and under the age of 19. It also strives to develop programs geared toward the early identification of hearing loss.

The Elks and Royal Purple have committed themselves to raising a total of $225,000 to bring about better audiology and speech ser-

College award

Shauna Tuckwood, left, of Drayton Valley, presently enrolled in the nursing program at Red Deer College, accepts an outstanding student award from RDC president Dr. Ed Latersbach. Tuckwood was one of 30 students recognised for their academic achievement, diligence in studies and positive influence on the college's learning environment.

Vaccine offered

As anticipated, the Alberta West Central Health Unit will add the new Haemophilus influenza B vaccine to the schedule of vaccines already offered free to children in the area.

The vaccine, which prevents one kind of meningitis, will be given to two-year-old children who have not previously received it and also to children aged two to five years attending day care.

Please phone 542-4415 for details and to make an appointment.

Avoid back injury

Dos and don'ts before digging

You may have winter in your hair and summer in your heart, but if you don't get some spring in your back you could be laid up until fall.

But just a minute!

For many it has been a long winter indoors, with not much physical activity, and a rush to answer the call of spring could be very wrong for your back.

Every year chiropractors have to treat many gardening and hobby enthusiasts who injure themselves early in the season, so the College of Chiropractors of Alberta offers these dos and don'ts before you start digging.

- * Prepare for any physical exercise with a few minutes of stretching leg, arm and back muscles. The same routine is also useful after work.
- * Wear proper clothing that will keep you warm but not hot. Make sure your back is covered and shirt tucked in.
- * Don't take on too much too soon. Start off with the little jobs and work yourself into condition.

- * Don't remain bent or stooped for long periods. Use long-handled tools to save you from pushing or pulling while bent over.

- * When weeding, get down on all fours, or kneel, using one knee at a time and changing frequently.

- * Switch hands frequently when raking, hoeing or shovelling. This distributes the load evenly instead of putting all the effort on one side of the body.

- * Use your legs, not your back, to take the strain when shovelling or lifting.

- * If joint or muscle soreness occurs, take a break and apply an icepack to the affected area for 10 minutes every half-hour. If the condition continues, or you experience severe pain in your back, see your chiropractor at once.

Low back pain afflicts up to 30 per cent of the population at any given time. The 350 members of the College of Chiropractors of Alberta receive 1.76 million office visits from Albertans every year.

Feminine look for summer

Fashions are simple, yet sophisticated

By Bev Boks
Spring and summer fashions for 1987 are feminine and refined with simple and yet sophisticated details.

The warm season is just around the corner and spring and summer fashions are being displayed in stores. With that, it's time to take a look at what's in style and to plan your summer wardrobe.

An Alberta Agriculture provincial clothing and textile specialist has prepared a fact sheet titled Fashion and Fabric Forecast for spring and summer 1987.

She suggests that today's fashions are more fitted and shapely, with a movement away from the big tops of past seasons. Dressmaker details are emphasizing the body form and a slimmer shape.

The straight or triangular tunic over slim skirts or leggings and tube dresses, create a simple, streamlined silhouette. Collarless necklines, sleeveless tops and cinched waists add to the total look.

Blazers appear as single or double breasted. Skirts are straight, dirndl or swing — in short or long lengths. Casual wear includes the long pleated skirt topped with a cardigan, the belted duster coat and camp or safari look. Pants are wide and easy or ankle-length and body hugging. Loose fitting striped shirts in neutral tones top skirts or pants.

Fabrics vary from flat to a textured slub look. As well, a subtle sheen replaces shine. Knits combine with wovens to provide a new look. Denim continues as a fashion fabric in both wovens and knits.

Neutral colors range from ecru to khaki and are newest when combined with knits. Pastels are whitened with pink surfacing as a transitional color. Brights are clear and lighter while cool colors in blue-greens and purple remain.

Accessories include gold and silver chain necklaces and bracelets. Bone, wood and leather jewelry enhance the camp or safari look. Flat shoes are popular for short and short skirts. Cinch belts and straw hats complete the look.

Update last year's fashions by adding a cardigan or collarless fitted jacket. As well, create a slimmer silhouette with darting on a cinched waist. Remove or modify oversized shoulder pads.

Overall, spring and summer '87 fashions are returning to the look of femininity and relaxed style and comfort.

Toastmasters

Thursday meeting

Are you interested in improving your communication skills while having a good time?

If you are, then make sure to attend an informal meeting regarding the formation of a Toastmasters Club in Drayton Valley. The meeting will be held at the DV Hotel, Thursday night at 7:30 p.m.

For more information call Helen Deal at 542-2805.

Happiness is having friends who laugh at your stories when they're not so good and sympathize with you in your troubles even when they're not so bad.
